Both fires ended up burning well over 200 acres, but they mostly burned underbrush and did not do a lot of damage. It did take a few days to put them out since there were several dead logs laying on the ground that continued to smolder.

Q. When will we have enough rain to make it safer from forest fires?

A. I can not say with certainty when we will be safer from forest fires. The ground is still very dry under the top layer of soil and all the dry leaves on the ground only makes the danger of fire greater. When looking at UGA's statistics from the experiment station at www.weather.uga.edu we are still well below the amount of rainfall that would be considered normal. From July 1, 2016 to December 29, 2016 our area has only had 13.24 inches of rain. You can compare this to the same time frame in 2015 where we had 40.89 inches, 23.78 in 2014, and 33.16 in 2013. Only when our rainfall increases back to normal will the danger of forest fires be greatly decreased.

knew it. Tommy had a reputation. A year or two later and we find the boys in the 8th Grade.

Their teacher was Milford Cohen and the boys have a new friend, Jerry Cohen, who happened to be the younger brother of their teacher. Also, in the class was a young lady named Geneva Abston. Geneva was a pretty and smart girl who liked being the center of attention. She enjoyed wearing pretty clothes while most of the kids wore clothing made from seed or fertilizer sacks and she was always the first to raise her hand when a teacher asked a question. She tried to become the "teacher's pet" in any class she attended. Anytime she felt she had the attention of those around her she would put on a show. Dad said, "She would sashay down the halls of the school" meaning she would priss around showing off.

One day Geneva wore a particularly pretty white dress with a pink sash tied into a bow on the back of the dress. The boys had a plan and worked it to perfection. Before class Dad walked to the front of the desk where Geneva was sitting and began talking with her and played to her ego. The discussion was about her dress, her pretty hair and her intelligence. While he had her attention William and Jerry untied the bow and wrapped the sash around the legs of the heavy wooden desk before tying it back. Afterward, Dad continued the conversation a few more minutes until the boys had time to make their way back to their seats. Mr. Cohen came into the room about 5 minutes later and told the students to take out their readers.

During this time of retrieving her book Geneva's attention was taken away from Mr. Cohen. So, Bud tapped her on the shoulder and told her the teacher had asked her a question. Immediately she jumped to her feet ripping the back of the dress off and leaving it with the desk. You can imagine the reaction of a bunch of kids to that event. Mr. Cohen took immediate action. He grabbed his younger brother, Jerry, by the arm and drug him into the hallway. As he was being dragged across the room the younger brother squalled out, "Milford, if you whoop me for this I'll tell Momma and she'll beat you like a red headed stepchild".

Out in the hallway, Mr. Cohen, told his brother, "When this board hits the bottom of my shoe you best scream like you are going to die and when you go back inside there better be tears falling down your face. Finally, you keep your mouth shut about what happens out here". Jerry nodded his head and each time the paddle hit his brother's shoe the boy let out a scream.

Jerry went back into the room and each boy was taken out into the hallway. Each was told the same story with similar results. Finally, Mr. Cohen took Tommy into the hallway and actually paddled him with 12 strong licks of the board. Tommy never found out the other boys were just faking.

ened something like that could happen to her. Yes, she has a high deductible but if some devastating event happens to her, we can help with that. She still can get specialists, treatments and medications and her payments are affordable.

So now we have peace of mind but that is for 2017. Obamacare will be the first item to be repealed by the new Congress with no plan ready to replace it. We just encountered what happened to Obamacare and insurance for small businesses after it passed through the 2016 Congress. This happened two years after the initial Affordable Healthcare Act was passed in 2014. While the factory's health insurance carefully follows all the preventative requirements as required by the ACA, the intent of the law (to provide services for the ill) for small businesses was gutted by the 2016 Congress. If this is what we can expect from the 2017 Congress, my heart goes out to our families who will not be covered or will be covered poorly.

Politics aside, this is a life-threatening problem for millions of Americans. These small business employees are our community and work hard for a living. This is happening right now. I saw the employee insurance form - they were warned of the fine and offered pitiful insurance choices for a hefty percentage of their hard-earned salary. Sadly they are unaware of another option for 2017- Obamacare. So I am spreading the word to those who can benefit from this program while it still exists. I know we're grateful for it.

By the way, in Georgia, adults making less than $11,000 a year are not eligible for Medicaid or Obamacare subsidies.

hearts and minds of the forgotten men and women in this great nation and the prayers and cries to heaven have been slowly growing and multiplying. I believe God heard the cries of the people and the churches wanting him back in their lives, their schools and their government. So it is my humble belief that God influenced the election.

It seems to already be having a positive effect on the people and businesses of our country. People seem more optimistic than they have been for years and I heard the words "Merry Christmas" more times this season than I have in past years.

God bless America again and as tiny Tim said, "God bless us everyone".
