Representative Gurtler's insight into upcoming legislative session

By Lily Avery North Georgia News Staff Writer

Georgia House District 8 State Rep. Matt Gurtler spent the morning discussing the upcoming 2018 Legislative Session with the Mountain Movers and Shakers at its weekly meeting at Sundance Grill on Friday, Nov. 3.

Rep. Gurtler share with the group what he hopes to see come to pass in the approaching year.

Rep. Gurtler made quite a splash at the State Capitol during his freshman year in the Georgia State House of Representative and while some may not agree with his policies and decisions, Gurtler fully intends to hit the ground running in the 2018 session. "My priorities this session is going to be focusing on my bills," said Gurtler. "I introduced a couple of bills, one is constitutional carry. It basically makes the Georgia Weapons License an option."

Constitutional carry, essentially, is a bill that would allow citizens who can legally possess firearms to do so in most public places. However, this would not replace Georgia's current carry license and would leave it in place for reciprocity between the states.

"I think that it's not the proper role of government to be charging people money, a $15 million tax, on a right," said Gurtler. "It becomes a privilege then. Twelve other states have already looked at this kind of legislation so we're looking forward to finding more support for it this year in the state legislature."

Another bill that Gurtler intends to continue with is a repeal of the Georgia State Hotel/Motel Tax. Introduced to the Georgia General Assembly and passed in 2015, this fee requires any facility that meets the qualification of a hotel to charge a fee to customers of $5 dollars per night.

"This really affects our district a lot," said Gurtler. "Georgia is the only state in the entire country that has this kind of tax, subsequently we also have the top four cities with the highest tax brackets for hotels and motels. Columbus comes in at a whopping 22.9 percent.

"When this was passed, it never went through a vetting process and this really affects

'This really affects our small businesses because, for example, if a couple has a room for $45 a night, then you add that $5, it's going to seem like a lot more than a hotel in a larger city that already has a higher rate.'

Several other representatives in the House have shown support for the repeal of the bill, which Gurtler sees as a promising sign for the upcoming assembly as he continues to campaign against the statewide tax.

In addition to policies and bills that Gurtler has introduced and supports, he also spoke district - students, parents, and our community partners.

"Union County Schools continue to excel at all levels with our CCRPI scores and academic progress measures. Our schools have consistently performed above RESA and state averages.

'My thanks to everyone in our school system and the community for their hard work briefly on the current campaign for Georgia's governor, offering advice for his constituents who may still be up in the air on which candidate they feel would be best for the job.

"With all of these candidates, I've had a lot of people ask who should they vote for," said Rep. Gurtler. "Well, what I would suggest is to do some research. Look at the candidates voting records and see how that correlates with how you vote and what vou believe in.

"There's still time, so just make sure that you're voting for who aligns with your beliefs. Just beware of all of the rhetoric with these candidates. You have to keep your elected officials accountable, myself included.'

Also during the meeting, Gurtler mentioned his ongoing internship program during the legislative session. For the 2017 session, Gurtler had two interns from Young Harris College who were given the opportunity to experience government proceedings first hand and walk away with a newfound knowledge and understanding of what exactly goes on in the state legislature.

"I'm trying to get young people involved in our government and what's going on," said Gurtler. "We're not going to change things if people aren't educated on what's going on and I think it's very important. What I'm doing is reaching out to all of the colleges across the district.

'These students can get to know the process and see what's really happening in and dedication to excellence in education.'

The CCRPI is a "comprehensive school improvement, accountability and communication platform for all educational stakeholders that will promote college and career readiness for all Georgia public school students," according to the Georgia Department of Education.
