Shall the Constitution of Georgia be amended to allow state or local approval of public charter schools upon the request of local communities?' communues?*
This proposal authorizes the General Assembly to provide by law for the creation of public state charter schools, which would operate under the terms of charters between the State Board of Education and charter petitioners, while preserving the authority of local boards of education to establish local charter schools. Specifically, the proposal clarifies the authority of the General Assembly to provide for state-wide policies for public education prior to the levy of school taxes for the support of spe-cial schools without approval of the local board of education and the voters in the aftodard of education and the voters in the an-fected school system, provides that special schools may include public state charter schools, pre-serves the authority of local boards of edu-cation to establish local charter schools, authorizes the expenditure of state funds for special schools, and prohibits the de-duction of certain state funds from local school districts as a direct result or con-sequence of the enrollment of students in state charter schools. The General Assembly has enacted a law to college or post-secondary level, restates the authority of the General Assembly to establish special schools, prohibits the incurrence of bonded indebtedness or the exercise the authority granted by the pro-posed constitutional amendment to provide for public state charter schools. This law will become effective only if the constitu-tional amendment is ratified by the voters. This law is published at Georgia Laws 2012, p. 1298, Sec. 1, and was enacted by 2012 HB 797, Act No. 766.
